

MILANO EXPO: 2015

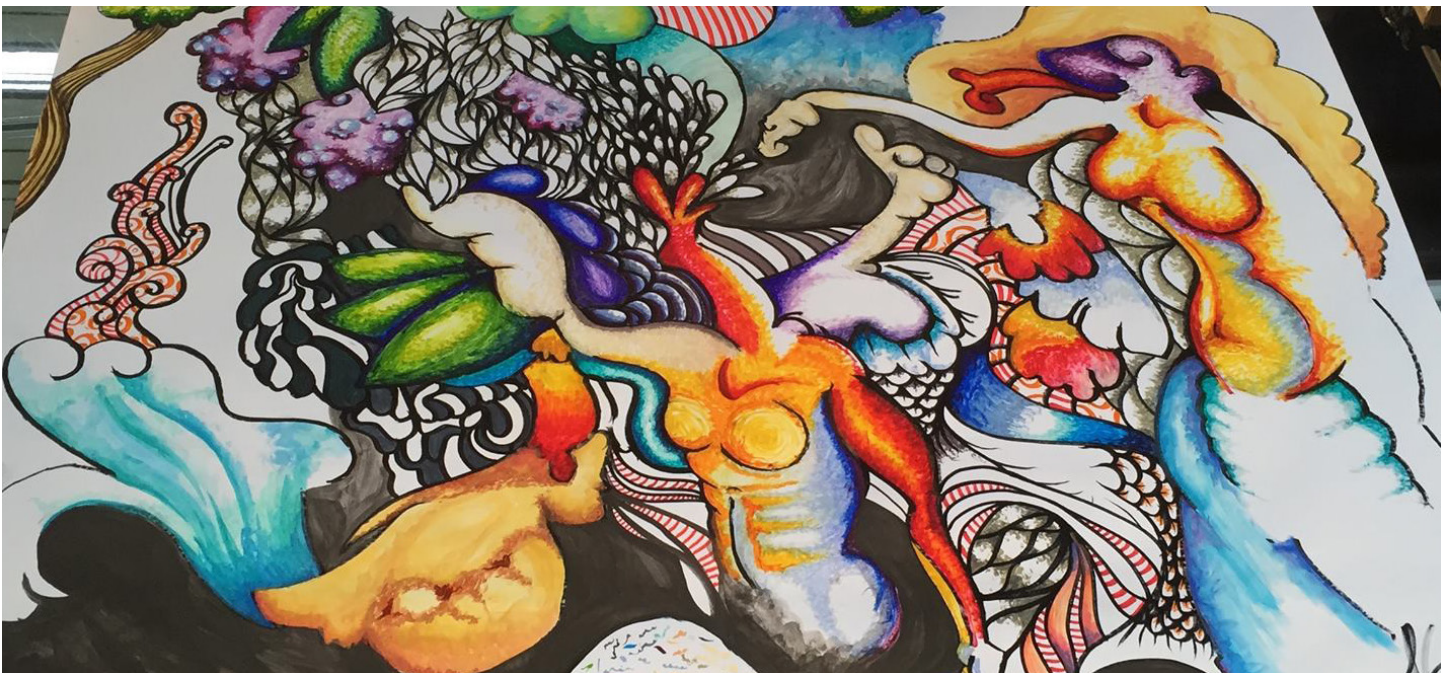

KooseKoose

@Milan EXPO

Christian Lammersdorf also known as KooseKoose or Koose, is studying graphic design in South Florida, United States. Before that he traveled to Milan and studied in Brera. In Brera he learned old graphic design techniques such as etching and press printing. His style of art is inspired by urban street art. His artwork is full of life and color.

www.kooseART.com

"Ecstasy of Life and Color"

"Ecstasy of Life and Color"

This work is a celebration of life in color, where a man and woman's form come together. The two beings shed their mortal skin to be one with the world around them. The man becomes the earth and the woman, water. Their energies collide and entangle into each other. Patterns intertwine other and colors swim in rhythmic motion. The work is supposed to keep your eye moving easily through the painting. The bright colors are supposed to bring feelings of ecstasy and happiness, while the flowing figures and forms are supposed to bring us peace, lastly the darkness and white space bring us to the edges, where man and woman are reminded of the mortal world.

